Selectmen's Meeting

JANUARY 14, 1986 - by VIRGINIA ARRAL

MOVEMENT IN THE SHELLFISH DEPARTMENT FOR 1986

Brian Nunes, Shellfish Constable, informed Selectmen last Tuesday that oysters will be transplanted from Eel Pond into Pine Island Pond to propagate another area. He said Eel Pond is a foot deep in oysters in many places. He added that the state will not permit moving oysters to the Mattapoisett River area until all pollution is cleared up.

Nunes also said that oysters have been taken for years from Eel Pond and that in the 1930s that pond was considered the town's own natural hatchery.

As part of Nunes' proposals for 1986, the shellfish constable said he will buy mid-size quahogs (the cherrystone size) and not seed, as the seed is more expensive. He said he would like to put the quahogs out on racks to see how they will grow. He told of a project in Chatham where small quahogs were put on racks to be kept away from predators and they did just fine.

In order to help the staff in the Selectmen's Office, Nunes said he will start the new year by preparing a list of names and numbers of all shellfishing license holders. This list will be given to the shellfish deputies, the police department and the selectmen. He explained this will ensure licenses aren't switched, which, he said, has been a problem.

He also reported the State Division of Marine Fisheries has done testing at the mouth of the Mattapoisett River to the bridge; results should be known by Friday. Nunes felt some of the pollution is due to the migratory birds that remain in the area because they are fed by the public. "The worst thing you can do is feed migratory birds. They will either find food or they will move on."

Selectmen quizzed Nunes on the rumor of the presence of salmon in the river. Nunes said since November four salmon have been reported being seen in the river. They are immature fish and have migrated from the North River in Pembroke by following the rivers in search of their natural feed - herring. Some have also been sighted in Wareham, Nunes said.

Selectman Frank Suzan commented he had heard salmon were sighted by Jerry Morris' near the Rochester line. Quite possibly, said Nunes.

The shellfish constable added that the salmon are not here in full force. They are here to feed. When they are ready to spawn they will return to the North River. Nunes said the salmon are voracious fish and in order to catch them in the river you need a fishing license. In the ocean you do not need a license, he added.

On a similar matter, Nunes commented to Suzan's remarks that smelts are very tasty and that it is legal to catch smelts in March in Wareham. Because Mattapoisett and Wareham were once united, Mattapoisett residents have a long-term right to fish for smelts in Wareham.

Nunes reported the shellfish truck engine is being rebuilt at Wareham Auto Supply and will be installed by John Bowman, the highway department's mechanic.

WILL CONSIDER what to do about the illegal use of the railroad right of way and other town roads that are being ruined by trail bikes and other similar vehicles.

Selectman James F. Huntoon, who jogs on some of the lesser used roadways, reported on the erosion and deep ruts being made by these vehicles. He specifically mentioned the road from Mattapoisett Neck Road to Brandt Island Road, Strawberry Point, and the road from Goodspeed Island to Reservation Road.

Huntoon felt the town should consider a town by-law to prohibit vehicles such as three-wheelers and trail bikes from being driven on these roads causing destruction. Ground cover is being ruined and will not come back without being replanted, Huntoon said.

The board agreed to seek the advice of Town Counsel Donald J. Fleming in the preparation of a proposed by-law with teeth in it. In the meantime, the board voted to instruct Police Chief James Moran to enforce the illegal use of unregistered vehicles on certain town roads.

DISCUSSED submitting a by-law on dumping tires within the town limits. Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta noted a new state law signed in the Senate on July 16, 1985 increased the fine to $1,000 for the first offense and $10,000 for each subsequent offense of dumping tires on public roads or 20 yards from a public road. Persons committing this offense will have to remove the tires at their own expense.

The board agreed to check with the state attorney general's office to define what roads are referred to as "public roads". If this means roads like town roads, the state law will be effective in Mattapoisett. However, if the roads imply highways, the town will need its own by-law.

sent by the building inspector to Joseph Denano, 118 Main Street, Malden, stated that Manuel R. Nunes, the town's highway surveyor, has agreed to remove the several hundred used tires left on his property at Leisure Shores without his permission.

MET WITH Robert Caton, owner of land on Marina Way, who is seeking to have a water flow diverted from his property in order to build a new house.

James Shepley, chairman of the Conservation Commission, and David Crook, Building Inspector, gave their opinions on the reasons for the water condition.

Caton said he had asked the building inspector, the highway surveyor and Donald Wood of the Board of Health to check the land. Crook said the lines were checked and the storm drains take the water to Gary Drive and Marina Way. It seems to come from a 12-inch pipe out by Charles Kelley's property and drains on Caton's land.

Caton added that the town owns land that could contain the water long enough so he could build on his land. "I could live with that," Caton said.

Shepley explained that initially there was an open trench and it was a hazard. In the Spring the Conservation Commission ordered it covered up. When Kelley was building he changed the ground water flow. No matter what you do water will drain from high to low. Caton happens to be at the lowest point and last one to build. Basically, it's the problem they all have when they purchase marginal-buildable land. You're fortunate if you're the first one to build in the area, said Shepley.

Shepley and Crook agreed it is a seasonal problem and not a new change. Caton protested having to get a permit on his own land as he will not alter the natural flow, as it's already a diverted flow. Shepley said, "It's the law and you have to get a permit from the Conservation Commission to fill and alter any flow."

At the suggestion of Selectman Huntoon, Caton will seek the engineering advice of Robert A. Cattley, who has specific expertise in determining what steps are best to take with this type of land.

"The Zoo Story" and "The American Dream", to be presented on January 31, February 1, 6, 7 and 8 at 8:00 p.m. This year marks the 25th anniversary of the first performance of "The American Dream" which is a comedy/satire about the contemporary American scene in the 1960's. An amusing yet thoughtful one act play, it has been described as an "attack on the substitution of artificial for real values in our society". Directed by Fred Lewis, the cast includes Joan Prescott, Barbara Wallace, Christine Picazio, Abner Oakes and Donn Tyler.

"The Zoo Story" is one of Albee's earliest plays and is a confrontation between two characters; one is a comfortably ordinary person, the other is quite extraordinary. Their casual conversation on a park bench changes both of their lives dramatically. Jerry and Peter are played by Fred Lewis and Donn Tyler. Mr. Tyler is chairman of the English department at Tabor Academy and is making his theatrical debut in Marion.

Tickets are available at the Marion Art Center or by calling 748-1266. Prices are $3.00 for students, $5.00 for members, and $7.00 for non-members.

Before Fred And Ethel Retire To Their Dream House, They'll Retire Their Mortgage And Save $23,000 In Interest.

SuperMortgage Is Here!

Yes, you can own your own house before you're old and gray. Yes, you can build equity faster and save thousands of dollars in interest.

Here's how SuperMortgage works:

Instead of paying your usual monthly mortgage, you pay half your monthly mortgage every two weeks. Why does that make a difference?

Because one payment every two weeks adds up to 26 payments a year, which is equal to 13 monthly payments. Believe it or not, this sharply reduces the amount of your interest as well as the length of your mortgage. (See chart below.)

To make things even easier, Fairhaven Savings Bank will deduct your SuperMortgage payments right from your NOW Checking or Savings account.

We'll even reduce your initial interest rate by ¼%.

To find out more of the advantages of SuperMortgage, drop by any branch of Fairhaven Savings.

"ON THE ROAD WITH CHARLES KURALT"

Charles Kuralt is a CBS-TV journalist, well-known for his lively delineations of people he has met up and down the highways, backroads and "out of the way" towns of America. Ever since 1967 when he first set out to meet the real people of America he has been collecting these homey interviews with ordinary-extraordinary people who spend their useful lives, "unknown, unhonored and unsung", (except by a few). Kuralt makes the observations that thanks to the interstate highway system one may now travel from coast to coast and not see a thing, and "the everyday kindness of the backroads more than makes up for the greed in the headlines".

The author thinks of others who have wandered the country before him. He says that when the oft-quoted Alexis de Tocqueville said, "the Americans become assimilated - they all get closer to one type", he stubbed his toe. The "melting pot" has never succeeded. There is something in the human psyche that won't be melted. When he mentions John Steinbeck, Kuralt is thinking of Steinbeck's "Travels with Charley", another delightful American travel book even though written thirty years ago. Charles Kuralt has been "on the road" discovering unusual people worth knowing and who would remain unknown but for his discovery. We may go along with him and meet them in the places where they live. The book is easy reading. May I suggest that you do not try to go everywhere and meet all the people at one time.

Toward the close of the book is the story, entitled "Coming Home". The nine children of Alex and Mary Chandler came home from every corner of America for Thanksgiving and the celebration of their parents' fiftieth wedding anniversary. A long journey had taken them away from home, every one of them, none a college graduate yet engaged in some useful vocation. Now on this Thanksgiving weekend they return, all of them remembering the sharecropper's cabin and the hardship that went with it - to a new house

Review: "Noises Off"

by DAVID B. BOYCE

In creating a physical comedy, an author must be careful to avoid overkill. Too little mental stimulation for the audience can result in numbing boredom and eventual disinterest. Michael Frayn's "Noises Off", presented January 14th at the Zeiterion Thetre, is a prime example of ingenious blending of comedic devices, mostly physical and highly cliched. But Mr. Frayn has not bitten off more than he is capable of chewing. With his tongue firmly lodged in his cheek, Frayn has created a brilliant three-ring (act?) circus that is dazzling to behold.

"Noises Off" concerns a rag-taggle theater troupe, touring the hamlets of England in a third-rate sex comedy titled "Nothing On". Act I of "Noises Off" is, in fact, the dress rehearsal of "Nothing On", interrupted, as it is, by the ministrations of director Lloyd Dallas (Noel Harrison). He's about at the end of his rope, as his eleventh-hour efforts are crumbling before his unbelieving eyes.

While it is amusing, Act I is a set-up for the remaining two. Relationships are disclosed, jealousies revealed and characters established, in both plays. "Nothing

On" is loaded with stock characters - the dizzy housekeeper, the over-sexed juvenile and his dumb-blond girlfriend, a bungling burglar and a well-heeled couple seeking an oasis from social pressures. "Noises Off" shows us the actors and stage personnel engaged in relations more farcical than those of the play-within-the-play.

Act II is, by far, the most visually compelling. It is here the audience is privy to the backstage antics during a performance of "Nothing On". Inventive set designs and staging help to make the craziness all the more real. The slap-"schtick" is timed with the finesse of Olympiad gymnastics. The athletic prowess of the cast is mind-boggling.

Act III, while over-long, held the biggest laughs. I confess to missing some bits as I was wiping my eyes of the tears of laughter. It has been some years since I've had such fun in a theater.

The cast of "Noises Off" is uneven, but good. Mr. Harrison well portrays the director, worn down by his inept troupe. His casual rapport with the audience creates a liason to the play's structure, helping in eliminating possible confusion. Hugh A. Rose, Carolyn Porter, John Rensenhouse, Lydia Laurans, Mary Portser, Berry Cooper and especially Moultrie Patten make up the ensemble. Special mention must be made of the performance by Patricia Kilgarriff, as the actress, Dotty Otley, who portrays the

Letter to the Editor

I would gratefully accept Victor Dubois' apologies (as noted in the Presto Press of January 15, 1986) for "messing" up my domain - however my "private domain" has escaped relatively well except for an occasional truck thump or the summer sweet whiffs of vehicular fumes.

I am pleased to ascertain that Mr. Dubois is such a careful, dedicated driver with his eyes so fixed on the road that in spite of his many years in Mattapoisett he has never noticed the woods parallel to North Street on the way to the approximate east of North Street, but more or less parallel with North Street, where the rejected road might have been put at that time, said layout being deep in the woods which would not have made the truck and cars "go by someone else's house, not mine".

I am fairly sure that the gentleman doesn't think I would wish to circumvent the "Almighty's" plan for "many neighbors from near and far to live in, visit and enjoy its (Mattapoisett's) many pleasures".

My main thought was to hopefully prevent the repetition of such stupidity - lack of intelligent thinking when such a situation might arise again, as in this case of two ways to go - one solution that would not have been detrimental to anyone.

I am over sixty-five feet from the street with landscaping; however, most of the houses from here to Route 195 are

The shows will take place at 1:30, 3:00 and 4:30 p.m. Models dressed in the latest bridal fashions including "mother of the bride" attire will circulate through the 1834 Greek Revival mansion, giving visitors a chance to see the dresses close up. Representatives from Mr. A's will be on hand to answer any questions about the gowns and other attire.

A special feature of the event will be the displaying of a cake made specially for the Rotch-Jones-Duff House by renowned decorator Cile Burbidge of Danvers, MA. Mrs. Burbidge has done cakes for the windows of world famous Tiffany's both in New York and Boston, and has also had her work displayed in the windows of Priscilla's of Boston on Newbury Street. Mrs. Burbidge is also the author of The Fine Art of Cake Decorating in which she shares her techniques for cake decorating as well as some of her adventures that have taken her around the world.

Other special events during the two days will include talks on choosing caterers, herbal floral arrangements, designing your own wedding bands, and a display of antique wedding attire, some of which is related directly to the Museum.

Planning Weddings 1986 will take place on Saturday, January 25th, from 10 a.m. until

The history of Philharmonia Hungarica is a dramatic one, actually beginning a few months before the founding of the Orchestra. In the fall of 1956, the citizens of Hungary began a revolution against the oppression of its people by a political regime. The failure of the people to overcome their domination resulted in the intervention of the Soviet Union forcing the Hungarian people to bow to a new Totalitarian power. During these political revolts, hundreds of thousands of refugees fled "...a sea of blood and tears from the sinking home of Hungary. In this huge maelstrom of refugees were musicians who, with their instruments as their only possessions, broke out into the free world".

Together the musicians performed their first concert as Philharmonia Hungarica on May 28, 1957 in Vienna before a capacity crowd. More than 100 critics from around the world attended and the result was the birth of the Orchestra's reputation as "One of the best in the world".

Today they hold the distinction of having made the first complete recorded edition of the Haydn symphonies (48 records in all) which received all the important awards and has sold over one million copies.

Conductor and soloist for the 1985-86 tour, Maestro Andre Bernard is acclaimed as one of the foremost trumpeters performing today. Bernard's versatility on the trumpet is marked by his using the valveless clarino trumpets of the 17th and 18th century to the contemporary.

He is considered the master of the high-pitched neo-Baroque D-trumpet. As Principal Conductor of the New Symphony Orchestra of London, Maestro Bernard recorded Beethoven's Seventh Symphony and Mozart Symphonies Nos. 39 and 41 "Jupiter" with the Orchestra.

Effective Parenting

STEP PROGRAM

Improving relationships between parents and children will be the focus of a series of discussion sessions beginning Monday, January 27th, at 7 p.m. at the Tobey Hospital Stillman Library. The program is being sponsored by Wareham Area Counseling Service.

The discussions will be based on Systematic Training for Effective Parenting, the most widely used parent education program in the country.

More than one million people throughout the United States, Canada, and other countries have participated in STEP discussion groups since American Guidance Service (AGS) of Circle Pines, Minnesota introduced the original STEP program in 1976.

STEP encourages mutual respect between parents and children. It leads to increased cooperation, more effective communication, and a more responsible, self-reliant attitude among children.

Locally, Wareham Area Counseling has sponsored these parent discussion groups in Buzzards Bay, Marion, Rochester, and Wareham during the past three years.

Our community's interest in parenting education is part of a nationwide trend. A recent nationwide survey conducted by AGS showed that parenting education is a growing phenomenon, sponsored by hundreds of diverse groups and organizations and conducted by thousands of individuals throughout the United States.

The trend in parenting education is a result of many social changes. These include changing roles for mothers, a shift away from the autocratic "Father Knows Best" value system to a more democratic viewpoint, and the increasing mobility of families.

Racine Castalod, M.Ed., who leads these groups for Wareham Area Counseling Service, reports that the parents who have participated in STEP groups have found the program beneficial for many reasons. High on their list was the opportunity it provided for them to share experiences and learn from others.

TRY WALKING FOR YOUR HEALTH

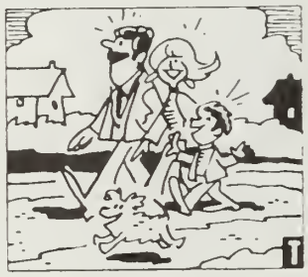
Thirty years ago the average child walked to school. Twenty years ago the child was content to ride on a bus occasionally. Ten years ago he tried to talk dad into giving him the family car once in awhile. Today he is extremely unhappy and often refuses to go to school unless he either has his own automobile or is driven both ways.

If you have had the opportunity to visit a foreign country, one difference strikes you almost immediately upon getting off the plane or ship. People walk, people bicycle, people participate in sports activities—especially children and teenagers.

Our high standard of living and our automated age seem to have made the United States' population a riding and viewing one, rather than a participating one.

Most health experts recognize the problem we face in a luxury society that gives incentive to sitting, riding, and watching, rather than actively participating. For our health's sake, we must go back to a way of life in which moderate exercise is a part, thereby allowing organs of our body to function properly.

Review your family's living habits. If your family eats too much, sits too much, rides too much, and exercises too little, this might be a good time to turn around and go back to some of the wholesome activities that were popular 30 to 40 years ago.



Your doctor of chiropractic reminds you that there have been great advancements made in the health services to help you live a longer and more satisfying life, but real progress can only be made if you have the desire to maintain your health.

Pains of mysterious origin may be caused by spinal insults. Sometimes the symptoms of a back problem appear immediately, allowing the afflicted person to correlate cause and effect. However, sometimes days or even months pass before pain appears, causing the victim to seek treatment for conditions other than the causative spinal disorder.

It is often an act of wisdom to seek qualified professional counsel as early as possible from a doctor of chiropractic. Under chiropractic care, a patient is either treated or referred after a comprehensive differential diagnosis.

to its care. The Animal Rescue League of New Bedford has been successful in that they have a fairly high adoption rate. Each year more than seventy percent of those pets that are deemed adoptable find a home or are claimed by their owners. The Animal Rescue League currently serves the towns of Westport, Dartmouth, Fairhaven, Acushnet, Mattapoisett, Freetown, Marion, Lakeville, Rochester, and the city of New Bedford.

The Animal Rescue League of New Bedford is a private, non-profit society established in 1911. For those animals who pass through their doors, the Animal Rescue League guarantees to concentrate their efforts to alleviate all suffering and to provide protection for all living creatures. It is dependent upon contributions from animal lovers for its daily operation. The Society receives no aid from any city, state, or community funding. This year, 1986, the Animal Rescue League of Greater New Bedford will be celebrating its 75th anniversary.

The "PETS ARE WONDERFUL" exhibit is sponsored by the Pets Are Wonderful Council, a national, not-for-profit, public service organization dedicated to communicating the joys and rewards of responsible pet ownership to the American public. This exhibit will be at the Museum during the month of January.

The Children's Museum is open Tuesday-Saturday from 10-5 and Sunday from 1-5. Admission is $1. for children and $1.50 for

Barbara Goldberg, Associate Professor in Fiber, notes, "We purposely chose two artists whose current work reflects contrasting styles in fiber art to broaden the viewing experience of our students and the public in the Greater New Bedford Area." She went on to say about Ms. Brandford, "Joanne Segal Brandford has been an inspiration to a wide range of fiber artists with her extremely sensitive and poetic work. Her sensitivity shows through in her handling of the material, her references to the history of textiles and the very personal expression in her work."

Barbara Eckhardt, Assistant Professor of Weaving, discussing Fuyuko Matsubara's work, said, "I'm especially interested in the different images that Fuyuko achieves in her surfaces. It is unique to have such soft painterly images in weaving."

B.A. in Decorative Arts and her M.A. in Design from the University of California at Berkeley. Her honors include a 1980 Artist-in-Residency in Fiberworks at Berkeley; a 1978 First Prize in Fibers at the Civic Center in Philadelphia and a 1976 Merit Award from the Richmond Art Center in Richmond, California. Her solo exhibitions include 1984's "Hard/Soft, Closed/Open: Recent Works" at New York's Amos Eno Gallery and "Recent Work: Nets" at the Fiberworks Gallery at Berkeley in 1980.

At the time of her 1984 show, the Amos Eno Gallery described Joanne Segal Brandford's netted constructions as "free standing and wall supported sculptures which are made of rattan and other fibrous materials. Some of these netted works allude to the forms of baskets. They document the artist's continuing explorations of structure and surface volume and space, tension and balance."

Fuyuko Matsubara received both her 1978 B.A. in Craft and Industrial Design and her 1980 M.A. in Product Design from the Musashino Art University in Tokyo, Japan. Between 1978-1980 she continued her studies at the Bunka Institute, Tokyo in Off-Loom work with master craftsman Toshiko Horiuchi. In 1982 Ms. Matsubara came to the United States and began her studies at the Cranbrook Academy of Art. She received her M.F.A. in Fiber in 1984. She is presently head of the Fiber Department at the Worcester Craft Center.

Ms. Matsubara has exhibited widely in the United States and Japan. Her recent exhibitions include: "Fiber National '84" at the Adams Memorial Gallery in Dunkirk, New York; "Graduate Show" at the Cranbrook Museum, 1985; "Innovation in Four Media" at the Worcester Craft Center Gallery; "New England Fiber Arts" at the Newport Art Museum in Newport, Rhode Island; and "Fiber Celebrate, 1985" at the Albuquerque Main Public Library Gallery in New Mexico.

The Crapo Gallery exhibition is the first selected by a department in Swain's new Program in Artisanry, the ten-year old program offering B.F.A. and M.A. degrees in Ceramics, Fiber, Metals and Wood, which recently transferred to the College from Boston University.

Joanne Segal Brandford will be discussing her work in an illustrated lecture on January 27th at 4:00 p.m. in Rodman Hall at the Rodman Mansion, 388 County Street, New Bedford. Her lecture will be followed immediately by the opening of the exhibition, JOANNE SEGAL BRANDFORD - NETTED Hot winter foods, including baked ziti, hot dogs, pizza, and clam chowder will be available for purchase, as well as a make-your-own sundae bar. Roving performers, including special guest Chuck E. Cheese, will entertain the participants.

The evening will end with an event not often seen in the winter -- a fireworks display, slated to begin at 8:15 p.m. Participants can watch the show through the large floor to ceiling picture windows in the Commonwealth College Center, overlooking the College pond.

The activities will revolve around a winter theme, but will take all the unpleasantness out of a winter celebration -- including questionable weather and chilly children, according to College planners. "The Winter Carnival is a chance to bring children out and let them have a good time in a comfortable environment," said Melissa Baron-Cyr, director of student activities at the College and chairperson of the event. "That means no snow sculpture contests," she added. "But there will be plenty to do," she said.

The schedule for the evening includes: 5:30 p.m., doors open; 6:00 p.m., small domestic and wild animals from Buttonwood Park; 6:30 p.m., young children's program (parent or guardian must attend); 6:45 p.m., magic, illusions and excapes featuring Dennis the Magician from Fairhaven; 7:45 p.m., juggling, magic and comedy by Curly-Q; 8:15 p.m., fireworks viewed from inside the Commonwealth College Center.

Ongoing activities throughout the evening include a psychometry booth (jewelry reading), and face painting.

All events are free. Food is available at modest cost.

Children will not be admitted without an adult.

DPW OPENS BIDS FOR SECOND SECTION

Massachusetts Department of Public Works Commissioner Robert T. Tierney has announced that, with the opening of bids for the second of three sections of roadway that comprise the extension of Route 25, the long-awaited link to Cape Cod has come another step closer to completion.

Commissioner Tierney said that the E.T. and L. Construction Company of Stow, Massachusetts is the apparent low bidder for the segment of Route 25, known as "Section 2B", that runs from eight-tenths of a mile north of the Bourne Bridge 2.16 miles to a point 600 feet west of Bourne Road in Plymouth. E.T. and L.'s bid was $10,786,510.

It is expected that the actual award of the contract will be made in six to eight weeks with construction beginning in early to mid-March. Completion of the two-mile stretch of highway is scheduled for late November, 1987.

E.T. and L. was one of six construction companies to offer bids on the project. Second and third lowest bids were submitted by the Barletta Construction Company of Roslindale ($10.9 million) and Modern Continental Construction Company of Cambridge ($11.7 million).

The Route 25 Extension will eventually complete Route 25 from the Bourne Bridge at the Cape Cod Canal, through Bourne and Plymouth, to the road's present terminus in Wareham. For contractual purposes the road has been divided into three segments.

Construction of the first part of the Extension, known as Section "2A", which runs from the Bourne Bridge west for eight-tenths of a mile, began in March, 1985 and is running 35% ahead of schedule. Section 2A is scheduled to be completed by June of 1987. This part of the project included the reconfiguration of Bourne Circle, completed last spring in time to alleviate the traditional traffic jams at this location on Memorial Day.

Currently, contractor J.F. White Contracting Company of Needham is constructing the new approach bridge to the Bourne Bridge replacing the old approach which was demolished last October. Structural steel for the new bridge, which will carry Route 25 traffic over Route 6 and onto the Bourne Bridge, is expected on-site in February. The approach bridge is expected to be open to traffic by this Memorial Day.

"All Cape residents and visitors should be extremely pleased that Route 25, which has been so long in the making, is now almost complete, under construction, or about to enter construction," said Tierney.

Only one mile of the vast loop formed by I-495 and Route 25 remains unbuilt or uncontracted for construction. Segment "2C", which connects the eastern 2.5 miles of Route 25 under construction with the completed seven miles to the west, must be built in order to open the entire extension to traffic. The DPW has advertised this final link in November, 1984 but was forced to stop the bid process by a local farmer's appeal of the state Division of Environmental Quality Engineer permit. A decision on the appeal is expected shortly.

If the result of the appeal is a reconfirmation by the DEQE of the permit

ANTIDOTE TO A TAX HEADACHE:
SEVEN STEPS TO MAKE FILING EASIER

By April 15th, approximately 97 million Americans are expected to settle their debts with the American government. Undoubtedly it will cause tens of millions of headaches.

Aspirin, however, is not the best antidote. Taxpayers can design a plan to make filing easier. Although every individual's return poses a unique set of tax circumstances, there are some steps every taxpayer can take to make filing less of a headache. According to the Massachusetts Society of CPAs, the following seven steps will help make filing easier if you prepare your own return or if -- as 45 percent of all taxpayers do -- you get professional help with filing your return.

1. Know if you will itemize deductions. Itemizing allows you to lower your tax bill. Specifically, it allows you to subtract from income amounts spent on medical and dental care, state and local taxes, charitable contributions, loan interest payments and certain job and investment expenses. Items which you subtract from income are called deductions. If you are single, you should itemize when you have more than $2,390 in deductions. If you're married and file a joint return, itemize when your deductions total more than $3,540.

2. Use last year's return as a guide. Examining your 1984 tax return that was filed a year ago can prevent you from overlooking certain items. See what deductions you claimed and whether you will claim them again this year. Have you received interest and other investment income in 1985? A quick check of Schedule B from last year will remind you of interest and other income you can expect to report this year.

3. Organize tax-related receipts. Depending on how organized your records are, you'll need to set aside an hour or two to collect and examine receipts from tax-related transactions. Don't expect to organize all of your tax-related documents on the same day you prepare your return or meet with your CPA. Make this a separate task. Give some thought to your expenses for 1985 which may have been tax-deductible. Did you pay interest on credit card purchases or store important financial documents in a safe deposit box? Perhaps you bought new tools for your job? Assemble proof of all deductions you plan to claim. Taking the time to leaf through old checkbooks and receipts may remind you of other tax-deductible expenses that are otherwise easily overlooked.

4. Assemble information forms. Information forms are sent to taxpayers by employers, banks and other financial organizations that pay interest or dividends, government agencies and certain other "payers". The most common information form is the Form W-2, the report of wages and taxes withheld. At the same time the payers send you an information return, they mail a copy to the IRS. When the IRS processes your tax return, it matches your return with the information form provided by the payers. Last year, the IRS questioned about four million taxpayers about discrepancies between their information form and return.

5. Know how the rules affect you. This is probably the toughest part of filing. Perhaps the best way to find out about tax rules is to ask the IRS for Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax". It explains tax rules in a straightforward manner. Use the index in the back of the book to find explanations of rules you think pertain to you. For instance, someone who wants to know if medical care by a chiropractor is deductible would look under "chiropractor" for the answer. If you have a complicated financial situation or are unsure about the rules, consider calling your local CPA with the question.

6. Get the right IRS forms. There are three forms from which you must choose: The 1040EZ is the simplest to fill out. It is for single persons with no dependents and less than $50,000 of taxable income. Those 65 or older should not use this form because it does not allow you to take the senior citizen exemption. deduction you can claim on the EZ is for charitable contributions. The Short Form, the 1040A, must also be used only by those with incomes under $50,000. But it allows you to claim certain deductions and credits that you cannot claim on the 1040EZ. You can claim the extra exemption for age on the 1040A, as well as deductions for IRA contributions, charitable donations and the special deduction for working married couples. The Form 1040, also called the long form, must be used by anyone with $50,000 or more in taxable income. In addition, IRS rules cite 22 other specific circumstances in which taxpayers are required to file Form 1040. The circumstances range from reporting foreign earned income to claiming a tax credit for the elderly or disabled. These complicated tax situations have spawned dozens of "attachments", which are forms that must be filed with your 1040 to explain specific tax circumstances to the IRS. The most common reasons for using the 1040 is to itemize deductions, report self-employment income and report taxable Social Security benefits. If you have a CPA, he or she will prepare the appropriate attachment forms, otherwise you can call your local IRS office and ask them to send you the forms you need.

7. A Last Resort. As a last resort, you may want to ask the IRS for a four-month extension on filing. Do so by filing Form 4868. But beware: Even if you file for an extension, you face a penalty if at least 90 percent of your 1985 tax liability is not paid by April 15th, and you'll also be required to pay interest on any taxes you owe.

New England Flower Show

THEME ANNOUNCED

The 115th edition of the New England Spring Flower Show will run March 8 - 16 at the Bayside Exposition Center in Boston. Upon announcing the dates of this popular spring event, Richard H. Daley, executive director of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, revealed that the theme for the show will be "Enchanted Places".

"The reasons for choosing a theme are twofold," explained Daley. "It encourages exhibitors to experiment with plantings and design. Further, it ensures that the show is unified and differs from previous ones. This year, our theme should yield some outstanding examples of gardens that are fanciful, whimsical - even exotic."

All in all, the 1986 New England Spring Flower Show will span three and one-half acres with garden displays staged by professional landscape and floral designers, garden clubs, educational institutions, plant societies and individuals. A retail section features plants, crafts, products and services for gardeners and homeowners and an expanded informational exhibit entitled "The Garden Resource Center".

Home gardeners are encouraged to enter a favorite plant in the flower show's amateur horticulture section. Participants in this friendly competition have their entries judged and displayed at the Spring Flower Show. For entry information contact the Horticultural Society at 536-9280.

Advance tickets to the 115th New England Spring Flower Show are available for $5. (one dollar less than the gate price) until

LOCAL CABLE COMPANY DONATES FUNDS TO CLOSE CAPTION LOST "HONEYMOONERS" EPISODES

American Cablesystems, the town's cable TV operator, is helping deaf people enjoy the lost episodes of Jackie Gleason's "The Honeymooners" by helping finance closed captioning of the segments.

The 52 black and white half-hour "Honeymooners" segments, which had not been telecast for 30 years, premiered September 9 and are being cablecast weekly on Showtime, the cable satellite premium channel.

Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies on Sunday, January 26th, at 1:30 p.m. This walk is free and open to the public. To register call the Lloyd Center at 990-0505. This program will include both an indoor introduction to the two species of seals found locally and an outdoor excursion to at least two of the locations where seals have been sighted in near shore waters.

Seals, both harbor and grey species, have increased in number in our waters in the last few years. A survey performed by Manomet Bird Observatory with the assistance of Lloyd Center in 1983-84 turned up seven locations where seals could be found, from Sakonnet Point to West Island. The number of seals observed was also only seven. Since that time two harbor seals have been found dead on the beaches in this area and a group of over twenty harbor seals were observed in the waters near the Lloyd Center last winter. Seals have also been observed this year swimming near Gooseberry Neck close to shore.

The Lloyd Center, in its efforts to study and inventory much of the coastal life in our area, has dissected the two seals which were found on the beaches (both in 1985). This program will include a discussion of the adaptations of these interesting and popular creatures through the use of photographs and specimens (organs, the pelt) from these dissections. The skeletons of both seals are being preserved and will be on display at the Lloyd Center this
